

Homework-7-

I'm so happy to get this course, it's one the most course I enjoyed reading and take it.

There are a lot of important thing and rules to improve our personality and leadership skills also how to figure out how to be a leader by tech us the leader skills and to manage our follower power.

There's no leader without follow and I the good lead should have good follow or improve his followers' skills.

As a leader I must control my followers' tasks, plans, skills, however these skills are personality's skills or hard skills.

Sometimes the leader must bear the responsibility of his followers, as he must encourage them and develop their practical, psychological and personal skills. He also likes to try to be part of the team and work with them as a team, not as a leader and followers.

In most of the places and teams I participated in, I tried to prove my leadership skills and I got a leadership badge wherever I went...

Like, I was the leader of youth teams working to develop and improve the local community, and, I was the captain of the national handball team, and I was also the leader of a group of coaches, the leader of the Facebook developers' team, and many more.

After these participations as a leader, I acquired the most important skills, which is how to work under pressure and take responsibility for the work of the team.

These challenges have changed my personality very dramatically in terms of making decisions and thinking deeply about the team that works under my command...

I don't think one day that one of my followers felt that I treated him as a leader and a follower. I tried my best to be part of the team and part of the followers.
